HILLCREST MANOR NURSING HOME

Hillcrest Manor Nursing Home is located just outside the village of Minsterley, Shropshire. The Home is registered for 47 residents including registration for service users with dementia needs.

The home is set in mature landscaped gardens surrounded by unspoilt Shropshire countryside. The home was originally a Farmhouse and then in 1912 was extended and converted into a Manor House. When first registered the nursing home comprised of just the Manor House but over the years the home has increased in size with the inclusion of all the out buildings.

If you would like to find out more about Hillcrest Manor, and whether we can help care for you, or your loved one, please contact the home manager and arrange for a visit at your convenience. During recent years the home has undergone major development work with the creation of nine premium bedrooms and a new lounge area. Existing accommodation has also been refurbished with emphasis on comfortable furnishing and softly coloured decor to provide a soothing and welcoming feel.

Nursing care

Every Hillcrest resident has a spacious private bedroom with an ensuite shower room, and with numerous design features to assist with daily living. Our residents are provided with delicious home-cooked meals at breakfast, lunch and dinner in their own rooms or our dining areas, as preferred. The facilities and activities provided at our homes are all designed to make daily living more manageable and enjoyable.

Respite care services

Respite, or short stay care, is provided at all Capital Care Group homes for those residents who do not require longer term care.

A short term stay may be needed for a period of convalescence after an operation, accident or illness, or because the resident's usual carer is on holiday or a short break. It is not unusual for short stays to be repeated, and often our respite residents decide to stay for the longer term once they have experienced life at one of our homes. We provide respite care for residents requiring residential or dementia care.

Respite stays, by their short term nature, can be perhaps a little daunting at first for both our residents and their loved ones.

Specialist care for people with dementia

Dementia-related conditions are becoming more prevalent in society today. But that doesn't mean people who have them shouldn't continue living a full and active life.

Residential care

Quality of life is always an important consideration. As we get older, it's vital. If individuals are finding it harder to manage on their own, or need more help than they currently receive, choosing to live in a care home can make a dramatic difference to their quality of life. All of our services focus on maintaining people's dignity, catering to their individual needs and creating a warm community environment.

Specialist care for people with dementia

Residents are looked after in safe, caring environments where all our staff are specifically trained to be able to manage the changing needs of our residents, with training including the need to be patient, tolerant, and kind, as well as observant and encouraging at all times.

At Haresbrook we have numerous features endorsed by the leading research centres in the UK to help deal with the progressive nature of dementia including safe and secure gardens to enjoy fresh air and outdoor activity.

We maintain a warm, homely and non-institutional environment where our residents can relax in their own spacious private bedrooms or participate in all the social activities that the home offers.

Respite care services

Not everyone understands how demanding caring for a loved one can be, whether on an informal, part-time or full-time basis. Everyone needs a break from time-to-time, and respite care offers these both to carers and those in need of quality care and attention.

Specialist end of life care

The highest quality of care and attention is given to those nearing the end of life and this includes pain relief, physical and psychological care, as well as emotional support, empathy and compassion shown to everyone – the individual, their family and loved ones.

Nursing care

At Portland highly trained and dedicated staff are on hand 24 hours every day of the year to provide nursing support to our residents.

Whether convalescing after a major operation or requiring long term care, our qualified registered nurses and carers will provide professional care to every resident in an attentive and respectful manner; always recognising individual needs and preferences.

Our nursing bedrooms are all designed to combine the practical features required to provide excellent nursing care, but are also designed to be homely and comfortable. We are a care home, not a hospital or institution. That's why all our nursing residents have large, individual private bedrooms.
